

Anglesey Scenic Run - June 2022

On Sunday 12th June a small group of DevaMoggers (and Charlie the dog) met in the Waitrose car park, Menai Bridge, for what turned out to be a fabulous scenic run around the Isle of Anglesey.

The group of five cars set off at 11:00 am following the 60 mile route instructions created by our host, Arwyn.

The roads were quite narrow in places, but the weather was good and it steadily got warmer throughout the day.

As we headed towards our first stop we took a right and followed the signs to Tacla Taid. We were forewarned about speed bumps in the village, so all sumps passed through unscathed.

Anglesey Transport Museum - Tacla Taid

Our first stop was at the transport museum, which had ample parking and a cafe selling local produce. Parking was free, but there was an entrance fee for those wishing to do the museum tour.

Anglesey Scenic Run - June 2022

As we were leaving, the museum owner rushed towards us in the car park. We assumed that someone had forgotten to pay their bill, but she asked if she could take a few photos to post on the museum social media pages. We agreed, and Eric kindly let her sit in his car for one too. She then video'd us as we left.

As we continued our journey the scenery was amazing with some cracking views of the coast. There was very little traffic on the roads, which was quite fortunate because there were few passing places on the narrow parts of the route.

Anglesey Scenic Run - June 2022

Llynnon Mill - Llanddeusant, Holyhead

Built in 1775, it is the only working windmill in Wales producing stone-ground wholemeal flour using organic wheat.

We had a short stop at the mill sampling some of the delicious cakes from the cafe. We were also able to use the much needed toilet facilities.

After a short rest we set off on the next leg of our journey, which was twenty odd miles of beautiful countryside.

Anglesey Scenic Run - June 2022

Moelfre

Moelfre is a picturesque former fishing village with a long maritime history. This was to be our next stop.

Anglesey Scenic Run - June 2022

The tour ended here, for us and one other car, but the rest of the group continued to the final destination, Beaumaris.

It was a very enjoyable trip with great weather, stunning scenery, interesting places to stop, and great company.

A big thank you to Arwyn for developing the tour and for being such a good host during the day.